

PORTFOLIO ISAAC ARMS

"Like many pieces of furniture, my objects begin life in a two-dimensional realm. I cut, grind and weld flat pieces of steel together, transforming what was once a collection of two-dimensional shapes into an object with depth and volume. For me, calculating, observing and participating in this metamorphic progression are the most rewarding aspects of the creative process." Born 1976, in New London, CT. Lives in Bozeman, MT, where he is setting up a studio. Attended Montana State University, Bozeman (B.S. 2000), University of Wisconsin, Madison (M.A. 2004, M.F.A. 2005). TOP AND BOTTOM: Chair, 2005, steel, patina, 28 by 45 by 30 inches; Twist, 2005, steel, English sycamore, patina, 20 by 59 by 15 inches. Photos/Bill Lemke.
